At the first meeting [illegible] pointed by the Convocation [illegible] May 6, 1870, accepted [illegible] last session, the following [illegible] agreed to, as the [illegible] which the revision is [illegible]

I. That the Convocation [illegible] Convocation of Canterbury [illegible] separate itself into [illegible] the revision of the [illegible] Old Testament, the [illegible] of the authorized version [illegible] New Testament.

II. That the company [illegible] the authorized version [illegible] consist of the bishops [illegible] Ely, Lincoln, and [illegible] following members [illegible] Archdeacon Rose, [illegible] and Dr. Kay.

III. That the company [illegible] authorized version of [illegible] sist of the Bishops of Winchester [illegible] and Bristol, and Salisbury [illegible] members from the Lower House [illegible] cutor, the Deans of [illegible] minster, and Canon [illegible]

IV. That the first [illegible] be undertaken by the [illegible] ny be the revision of [illegible] of the Pentateuch.

V. That the first [illegible] undertaken by the New [illegible] be the revision of [illegible] the Synoptical Gospels.

VI. That the following [illegible] vines be invited to [illegible] Company: Dr. W. L. Alexander [illegible] Chinnery, Canon Cook [illegible] Dr. Davies, Professor [illegible] Dr. Ginsburg, Dr. Gotch [illegible] rison, Professor Leathes [illegible] Canon Payne Smith [illegible] rowne, Professor Plumptre [illegible] Wright (British Museum), W. VII. That the following [illegible] vines be invited to join [illegible] Company: Dr. Angus [illegible] Dublin; Dr. Eadie, Rev. F. J. A. Hort [illegible] W. G. Humphrey, Canon Kennedy, Archdeacon Lee, Dr. Lightfoot [illegible] Professor Moulton, Dr. J. H. Newman [illegible] fessor Newth, Dr. A. Roberts [illegible] Smith, Dr. Scott [illegible] Scrivener, Dr. Vaughan [illegible] Westcott.

VIII. That the general principles to be followed by both companies be as follows:—

1. To introduce as few alterations as possible into the text of the authorized version consistently with faithfulness.

2. To limit, as far as possible, the expression of such alteration to the language of the authorized and earlier English versions.

3. Each company to go twice over the portion to be revised, once provisionally, the second time finally, and on principles of voting as hereinafter is provided.

4. That the text to be adopted be that for which the evidence is decidedly preponderating, and that when the text so adopted differs from that from which the authorized version was made, the alteration be indicated in the margin.

5. To make or retain no change in the text on the second and final revision by each company, except two thirds of those present approve of the same, but on the first revision to decide by simple majorities.

6. In every case of proposed alteration that may have given rise to discussion, to defer the voting thereupon till the next meeting, whensoever the same shall be required by one-third of those present at the meeting, such intended vote to be announced in the notice for the next meeting.

7. To revise the headings of chapters, pages, paragraphs, italics and punctuation.

8. To refer, on the part of each company, when considered desirable, to divines, scholars, and literary men, whether at home or abroad, for their opinions.

IX. That the work of each company be communicated to the other as it is completed, in order that there may be as little deviation from uniformity in language as possible.

X. That the special, or by-rules for each company, be as follows:—

1. To make all corrections in writing previous to the meeting.

2. To place all the corrections due to textual considerations on the left-hand margin, and all other corrections on the right-hand margin.

3. To transmit to the chairman, in case of being unable to attend, the corrections proposed in the portion agreed upon for consideration.

S. WINTON, Chairman.

May [illegible]

To show that there will be no delay in the process of revision, it is mentioned that the New Testament Company will meet at 11 o'clock on June 22d and 23d, at the Jerusalem Chamber, Cloisters, Westminster. The original resolutions read as follows:—

1. That it is desirable that a revision of the authorized version of the Holy Scriptures be undertaken.

2. That the revision be so conducted as to comprise both marginal renderings and such emendations as it may be found necessary to insert in the text of the authorized version.

3. That in the above resolutions, we do not contemplate any new translation of the Bible or any alteration of the language, except where in the judgment of the most competent scholars, such change is necessary.

4. That in such necessary changes, the style of the language employed in the existing version be closely followed.

5. That it is desirable that Convocation should nominate a body of its own members to undertake the work of revision, who shall be at liberty to invite the co-operation of any eminent for scholarship, to whatever nation or religious body they may belong.

LETTER FROM DETROIT.

DETROIT, June 10th, 1870.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

There [illegible] something in a trip from Portland [illegible] oit, over the Grand Trunk Railroad [illegible] rest your readers. Notice, first, that [illegible] made good time from Portland to [illegible] miles, in thirty-six hours. The road [illegible] good order. More than one hundred [illegible] enty miles of rails of the heaviest [illegible] just been laid, fifty miles with the [illegible] Bessemer steel. The stillness [illegible] which the cars run over this rail [illegible] a wonderful contrast with [illegible] of late years. The freight [illegible] enormous. The Company [illegible] some 320 powerful engines, [illegible] ings of the road have been [illegible] millions of dollars the past [illegible]

[illegible] this route is magnificent, [illegible] and plains and rich fields [illegible] Crops are looking splendid [illegible] surprised at the increase of [illegible] United States, as he looks [illegible] of Canada. She now exports to the United States more than she [illegible] 1862 the balance of trade between Canada and the United States was [illegible] at that time the [illegible] in 1860 for example, out of a [illegible] twenty-two millions, Canada exported sixty-six millions. In 1869 she [illegible] 1,412,000 bbls. of flour, 13,[illegible] of wheat, and 0,520,000 bushels. No wonder the Canadians are elated on their present and future prospects.

[illegible] of the most thriving and [illegible] will find anywhere. Its [illegible] inhabitants, extended over [illegible] The public buildings [illegible] city. There is no more [illegible] in the States than the Rossin [illegible] Asylum is a model of its [illegible] people are very proud of it. [illegible] is a magnificent structure. [illegible] on the day of the grand [illegible] There was a very large [illegible] there are between three and [illegible] students all dressed in cocked [illegible] On this occasion the [illegible] met the students of the University [illegible] Chancellor presided. The [illegible] at the opening of the Convocation was very brilliant and imposing. [illegible] received the degree of M. D.; fifty [illegible] the degree of M. A.; twenty the degree of [illegible] thirty-four the degree of B. A. [illegible] followed the presentation of gold and [illegible] medals and other testimonials of honor. [illegible] whole was concluded by a grand [illegible] All the ceremonies, even to grace at [illegible] were pronounced in Latin. Of [illegible] there were toasts and speeches, which [illegible] not all in Latin.

Next to the University stands the Normal [illegible] a very beautiful building with still [illegible] beautiful grounds. I noticed a very [illegible] collection of elegant paintings, mostly [illegible] from the old masters, and many of [illegible] very fine. The building is filled with [illegible] and the Museum is an honor to the [illegible] city. I wish some of our City Fathers, who [illegible] much afraid of elegant school houses, [illegible] Bangor, could look at these fine buildings [illegible] school purposes.

[illegible] is called by the Canadians, the [illegible] Churches. I noticed some forty-three [illegible] Of course there is considerable [illegible] among them although not as much [illegible] will find in Montreal and Quebec. [illegible] Conventions of Canada seemed to [illegible] Toronto this year. The Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches were all represented and of course the city [illegible] of clergy.

Yours, &c., S. P. F.

The latest news from Fort Garry via Toronto is that Riel can muster three hundred fighting men, which could be swelled to three times that number, provided there is no fighting but plenty of plunder. Riel will not probably make any determined opposition to the British Canadian forces.

The question of the Collectorship of New York is still being agitated. Nineteen of the [illegible] Representatives to Congress from [illegible] State have signed a protest against Murphy's appointment, and expressed a preference, in the event of a change, for ex-Congressman Robertson, of Westchester County.

The race on the Seekonk Friday, between the first crew of the Harvard Scientific School and Brown's University Freshmen crew, resulted in a victory for the Harvards, by half a dozen lengths. It was a spirited [illegible] but a violent thunder shower and hail storm spoiled the enjoyment of the spectators.

The President to-day nominated Isaac R. Gray of Ind., to be Consul at St. Thomas, and Lieut. Edwin Miller to be Lieut.-Commander in the Navy.

Republican Nominations.

FOR GOVERNOR,

Hon. Sidney Perham

OF PARIS.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES TO CONGRESS.

3d District—Hon. J. G. BLAINE, of Augusta.
4th District—Hon. J. A. PETERS, of Bangor.

THE IRRECONCILABLES.

It seems that the leading spirits of that restless body of political dissentors which during the last campaign under the guise of extraordinary zeal for the cause of temperance, exerted its influence for the defeat of the party which had so long been its only champion, and the consequent success of the most uncompromising enemies of prohibition, have refused to accept the very generous olive branch extended to them by the recent Republican Convention or to furl their standard of revolt. The action of their State Committee in accepting the radical nomination and platform adopted at Augusta as satisfactory and sufficient, is repudiated by the ultra wing of infallibilists who are evidently more enamored of contention than the rational advancement of the principles of which they assume to be the especial guardians.

We learn that a small but determined band of these enthusiasts, ignoring the postponement of their Convention, assembled at Auburn on Friday, and in solemn conclave, deliberated upon the situation, with a view to ascertaining how far their august approval should be vouchsafed to the existing condition of mundane affairs, and especially to the present position of the dominant party in this State. Graciously consenting to endorse the nomination of Mr. Perham, which was made in particular deference to their wishes, these modern Warwicks, unsatisfied with making the King, determined that while the Governor should rule the people, they should rule the Governor, and proceeded to supplement the platform upon which he was nominated, by additional resolutions, demanding thorough-going temperance legislation, whatever that may mean, and the establishment of a State Police, the meaning of which is more apparent.

Having thus attended to the affairs of the Republican party, attention was directed to their own immediate interests, and it was resolved to continue the third party organization, and arrange at once for independent County and Representative nominations, this action being evidently the result of a mathematical demonstration that there would not be offices enough on the regular ticket to insure a satisfactory distribution.

The combative spirit aroused by last year's insurrection, still rankles within them, and having sported the trappings of one campaign, they scorn to settle again into the harness and jog along with the steady-going workers of practical reform. To them there is no delight save in the proud discontent of anticipated victories, and the objects for which they struggle with passionate zeal, crumble into worthless ashes in the grasp of attainment. Agitation, dissension and controversy are as necessary to their political existence as the quiet atmosphere of prudence and common sense is obnoxious, and while ostentatiously avoiding the stimulating influences of the flowing bowl, their souls still hanker for the pleasant fuddle of political notoriety, and yearn for the savory flesh-pots of our office-holding Egypt. Like a tolerated, although somewhat irregular body of Sherman's great Western Army, they prefer to be ahead, in the rear or on the flank, anywhere but in the compact ranks which would swallow up their identity and compel them to share the duties as well as the spoils of warfare.

Regardless of a former failure, and only thoughtful of that public notice which is the breath of their nostrils, they would push their inconsiderate demands ever beyond the limits of popular approval, and only recognize continual concession by a louder and hungrier cry of Give! Give! Spurning the necessity of that general support which they have long and strenuously besought, these guerillas of philanthropy are constantly assailing public opinion in new and exasperating forms, and asserting their unrelenting hostility to everything but themselves.

Fortunately these irreconcilables are as few in numbers as they are prolific in their wants, and the great body of temperance men, the true friends of reform, no longer led by these reckless guides, are marching with the great party which has fostered and protected their cause, and which has again pledged its faith, as it alone has the ability, to maintain it.

The N. Y. Evening Post, generally well informed on current topics, is evidently somewhat mixed on the subject of Maine politics. Alluding last week to our suggestion of a probable candidate for Congress from the first district, it remarks that the matter is left in doubt, "as in the primary elections to the Republican Convention his name was not mentioned." As the Republican Convention was called to nominate a candidate for Governor, and the election of delegates to that in the first district had not then taken place, we are unable to locate the "primary elections" referred to.

The Gardiner Reporter says:

"The Penobscot folks are to be complimented for sticking to their friends. They are as true as steel, as their earnest zeal for Hersey last Wednesday will testify and they deserve a better reward. They have been brought up in a school of politics that teaches never to desert a friend, and some of our Kennebec politicians could well take a few lessons from them."

THE POSTPONED CONVENTION. The Maine State Temperance Convention, called to meet at Auburn, Friday, and announced as indefinitely postponed, was held at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., Auburn, commencing at ten o'clock on that day. The attendance was not large, though some of the most earnest of the temperance men of the State were present, Hon. Henry Tallman of Bath, presiding. The Convention, by a unanimous vote, placed in nomination as a candidate for Governor, Hon. Sidney Perham, and adopted resolutions demanding thorough going temperance legislation, a State police, and the continuance of the temperance party organization. A State Committee was appointed, and arrangements made for independent county and representative nominations. The Convention severely censured those members of the State Committee, who caused notice to be sent out that the Convention was indefinitely postponed, thus preventing a larger attendance.

The testimony before the Senate Select Committee on the San Domingo treaty closed Thursday night, and after a report shall have been made the consideration of the treaty will be resumed. It has been proven by official documents that Davis Hatch was made prisoner by the Dominican government because it was feared that if he was at liberty he would damage the annexation project.

The Nashville Press and Herald declares that the Conservatives of Tennessee are earnestly and wholly opposed to the repudiation of any portion of the debt of the State.

Hook and Ladder Company of Portland, Monitor Steam Fire Company of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, and the Bunker Hill Engine Company of Gloucester, Mass., appeared in the procession as guests of the Charlestown Firemen. Other popular demonstrations converted the day into one of general enjoyment. The convicts in the State Prison were cheered by a half holiday and a visit from H. C. Dorsey of Pawtucket, who added to his well earned fame by expending $500 for strawberries and cream as desert for the prisoners' dinner. A memorial building was dedicated in Foxboro and a monument in Hingham, both in honor of deceased soldiers.

THE ENGLISH EDUCATIONAL BILL. In the House of Commons on Thursday, Mr. Gladstone in explaining the education bill, said he would not have objected to a plan for making compulsory education undenominational, but as it was, the Government must declare itself on the religious aspects of the bill, and especially on the denominational character of the local boards, touching which much sensitiveness was felt, the main objections must be met. First of these was that of the conscience clause, which was an insufficient safeguard; second, that the funds raised by taxation could not be applied to religious instruction. The former objection was difficult to relieve, but had been met by leaving religious instruction optional. The country was not ripe for the entire exclusion of religion from the schools, but he was willing to say that where educational changes were local, the religious questions should be left open. Such changes as were proposed by the entire measure, he hoped, would speedily give the great and permanent blessing of an elementary education to those now reluctant to trust their teaching to the church, and who were willing to entrust it to the community. Disraeli ridiculed the amendment by which the Government proposed to revolutionize the character of its own bill, and final action upon it was postponed.

A large meeting of non-conformists was held in Liverpool Friday evening, at which speeches were made by eminent persons and resolutions passed sustaining the attitude taken by Messrs. Gladstone and Forster on the education bill. A meeting of the dissenters at Leeds was also well attended, and resolutions expressing satisfaction with the bill were unanimously adopted.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE.—John Duggan was on Friday discharged from the situation of night watchman at the St. Cloud Hotel, New York, and went to a house where his wife was engaged as a servant, and told her that he had obtained a situation for her at the Hotel. While going through the street to the Hotel, Duggan drew a razor and cut his wife's throat from ear to ear, then pulled the razor across his own throat, making a frightful wound. Passers-by attempted to disarm him, but he wildly rushed at them, and for a few moments the scene was appalling. Two policemen appeared and attempted to take the razor from him, but without avail. He finally threw the razor down and began to throw stones, but being defenceless, one of the officers hit him on the head with his club, felling him to the ground. Duggan then, with his wife was taken to the Station house, where their wounds were sewed up and they were afterwards removed to Bellevue Hospital. There is no probability of Duggan's life being saved, but there are slight hopes that his wife may recover. Both were natives of Ireland and have been in this country only four months.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Marshal Serrano was reported quite ill on Saturday.

Gen. Prim is quite ill and will spend a few weeks at Vichy.

Daniel McFarland was elected Treasurer of the Washington Irving Literary Association on Saturday.

Returns from 10 counties in Oregon give Wilson, the Democratic candidate for Congress, six majority.

James L. Harris, colored, it is said, is almost certain to be elected to Congress from the Fourth District of North Carolina to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Deweese.

Mr. Adger the defeated candidate for the House of Commons for Bristol, declines to contest the seat, and the subject is now before the Courts on charges of bribery and corruption.

B. Woodcock, late Postmaster at Piedmont, West Virginia, was arrested on Friday and committed to await the action of the Grand Jury on the charge of embezzling the funds of the United States.

In the Philadelphia Congressional Districts the following Republican nominations have been made: 1st, Benjamin Huckel; 2d, Charles O'Neill; 3d, Leonard Myers; 4th, Wm. D. Kelley.

An act of Congress relieving Amos T. Akerman from the legal and political disabilities imposed by the 14th amendment, was approved December 14th, and his name appears in the act with about 1600 other.

The Boston Advertiser in referring to Speaker Blaine's nomination, says: It is one in which not only the immediate constituents of Mr. Blaine, but New England and the whole country are interested, and it is gratifying to notice that one who has borne himself so well in his high position is so popular at home.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says that Secretary Fish has only been kept from retiring to private life by the wishes of the President for some time past, but that nothing is hazarded by predicting that the name of his successor will be sent to the Senate before the adjournment a month hence.

The Vermont Democratic State Convention on Friday nominated last year's ticket, as follows: For Governor, H. W. Heaton of Montpelier; for Lieutenant Governor, W. Noyes of Burlington; for Treasurer, J. M. Weeks of Lyndon. The State Committee of last year was re-elected, with H. B. Smith of Milton, as Chairman.

The first or corner stone of the pile of masonry forming the Brooklyn tower of the great East River bridge, was laid Wednesday afternoon. It is a massive block of lime-stone from the quarry at Kingston, Ulster County; is three feet wide by eight feet long, and weighs about 6,800 pounds, or 143 pounds to the cubic foot. Additional borings are now being made for the New York tower. At a depth of thirty feet beneath the quicksand, boulders have been reached and indications of rock are apparent. Plans have been perfected for the New York caisson, which is to be somewhat larger than the one just sunk at Brooklyn.

concert of the Sangerfest in Cincinnati Saturday night.

A band of Carlists attempted to cross the Spanish border near Bayonne on Friday, but were turned back by the French soldiers.

A company has been formed in London to run steamers from England to Portland, Oregon, and from San Francisco to Australia.

The London Shipping Gazette of Saturday morning was confident, that the advance in grain will not disturb the money market.

The London Saturday Review, in commenting on American affairs, says that Congress has checked the audacity of manufacturers, but is still averse to adopting a liberal policy.

Despatches from General Wimpfen, received in France Saturday, announced his expedition through Morocco as entirely successful, the rebels everywhere submitting to French authority.

The recent showers extending throughout England have proved of the greatest service to the crops. The lightning caused a number of destructive fires by which houses and barns were destroyed, but no loss of life has been reported.

The extensive ale brewery of Brockway & Son, on 116th street, New York, was seized on Saturday for violation of the Internal Revenue laws, by affixing fraudulent stamps to barrels of ale. They were held for examination in $10,000 each.

The miniature steamer City of Ragusa is fully repaired and on Saturday was awaiting a fair wind for a fresh start for New York. She was riding at anchor in Cork harbor and was visited by hundreds of curiosity-seekers.

Rumors are currently circulated in Paris that a military pronunciamento in favor of the Duke of Montpensier, is contemplated in Spain. The report caused much excitement on the Bourse, and a marked decline in Rentes.

Gustave Flourens arrived in Greece some time ago and has received notice to quit the country in accordance with the demand from the French Government. The movements of Flourens have been made so secretly that it was but recently suspected he had left London.

Michael Horman and Patrick Meagher of Williamsburg, were ejected from a train over the Newark and New York Railroad on Friday while intoxicated, and were run over by the next train, by which Meagher was fatally injured.

In the French Corps Legislatif on Friday an interpellation was submitted on the return of the Bourbon family and the restoration of their property, and official denial was given to the report that the Government intends an early dissolution of the Chamber.

The Dublin Freeman approves of treating the Fenian raiders in Canada with all legal severity, and says if an American jury can be found to convict them, they should be sentenced to the utmost penalty of the law. Three months imprisonment would practically be nothing.

It was reported in London, Friday, that the Pope intends to make a compromise on the question of "Infallibility," which he hopes will receive the unanimous support of the Council.

The billiard match in New York Friday night between Rudolphe and Cyrille Dion, four-ball American carom game, push and jaw shots barred, was won by Dion. The score stood—Dion 1500, Rudolphe 1070.

The Centennial anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Barrington, R. I., was spiritedly celebrated on Friday by a Procession, Oration, Poem and dinner. Five thousand people participated.

The Handel and Haydn Musical Society of Boston gave a very pleasant hop Friday evening at the Park Avenue Hotel, New York, where they were staying, at which the elite and many prominent citizens were present. The music was rendered by Gilmore's Quadrille Band, and the entertainment passed off with great eclat.

Lord Penzance has given a decision invalidating the will of Samuel Mott on of Liverpool, who left his fortune to Rev. Dr Goss, a Roman Catholic Bishop. The Court decided that proofs of the incapacity of the deceased to make a will at the time the document was dated, were conclusive.

Seventeen horses were entered for the Ascot Race which came off in England on Friday. The course was about three miles. Count F. de la Grange's "Trocadero" won the race for the Alexandra plate and 1000 sovereigns added to the sweepstakes of twenty-five sovereigns each. Sir J. Hawley's "Siderolite" came in second.

Mrs. Elizabeth Siebert secured a verdict of $2000 from John Lessen, in the Superior Court, Baltimore, Friday, for assault. The alleged assault was that Lessen in February last, at the house of Siebert during his absence, approached his wife and seized and kissed her hand against her will.

William Carney, a colored musician, was shot and killed in Philadelphia, Saturday morning, by William Pence the Nixon. The quarrel occurred through Pence striking the wife of the janitor of the National Guards Hall, which Carney resented, striking Pence, when the crowd made a rush at the latter and he fired a pistol at Carney, killing him.

The attendance at the Empire Rink Concerts is steadily diminishing, and on Friday the affair was said to be about played out. Miss Caroline Richings was the most prominent vocalist present on Friday, and with other members of her late Opera Company, occupied the greater part of the programme. More of the orchestra became disgusted and left, and the chorus was reduced to very limited numbers.

Proprietors of lots are reminded that the Committee have permission to employ laborers in clipping the grass, raking off leaves and other work, if the lot holders so desire, and have it performed.

Mr. LOWNEY having been engaged as the Superintendent of the grounds, any work to be performed will be done under his direction.

If it is desired that a Headstone or Monument be reset in the cemetery, the work should be done. If stones or grave marble, repairing graves, or any building is done, the charge should be according to the work performed.

Particular instructions have been given that no work be done on grounds unless ordered.

By order of Executive Committee of Mount Hope Cemetery.

PAINFUL CORNS,

CHILBLAINS,

&c., &c.

Dr. R. would respectfully impress upon those who may require his services, that he does not use any caustic or any kind injurious practice. He easily and successfully removes the diseased part from the root without pain or bleeding, and always at the time the mode of treatment adopted gives the patient

Immediate Relief from Pain,

AND

The Boot Can be Worn

Directly After the Operation.

As this is the Doctor's first visit to Maine, he can offer no testimonials from citizens of this State, but some time since he visited Harrisburg, Pa., and Williamsport, Pa., (the "Bangor" so far as lumber is concerned, of that State,) and respectfully submits a few of the many testimonials he received while there:

IN HARRISBURG, PA.—Rev. N. H. Kuts; M. Jones, Editor "Evening Telegraph"; E. Rosure, Esq.; Messrs. Coreman and Sons, clerks at Bolton House; Mr. George Houser, Adams' Express, &c.

IN WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

From Dr. Pollock, brother of Ex-Governor Pollock:

"Dr. Richards removed most skilfully a troublesome and painful corn on my foot, and I can cheerfully recommend him to the suffering as a skillful operator. S. POLLOCK, M. D."

[From A. B. Tate, Editor "Williamsport Standard."]

"It gives me pleasure to certify that Dr. Richards removed a painful corn from the bottom of my foot, which had made it a difficult matter for me to walk during the past six months. The operation was performed without pain or the drawing of blood. The corn when extracted was found to measure a quarter of an inch in depth. I now experience pleasant relief and believe the cure will prove permanent. A. B. TATE."

Many more could be given did the Dr. think it necessary. "A word to the wise," etc.

Ladies may place themselves under the Doctor's care without the slightest hesitation, as there is no pain in the operation, or after it.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

WASHINGTON, June 18.

SENATE.

Mr. Conkling, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a substitute for the House bill in reference to the naturalization laws and gave notice that he would call it up at an early day.

The substitute is the Senate bill as recently reported from the Judiciary Committee on the same subject, with an additional section authorizing United States Marshals in cities having over 20,000 inhabitants to appoint as many special deputies as may be necessary to preserve order at any election at which members of Congress are to be elected.

Mr. Carpenter, from the Judiciary Committee, reported as amended the House bill fixing the compensation of Grand and Petit Jurors in the Circuit or District Courts of the United States at $3 per day. Passed.

Mr. Howard called up a bill to amend the land grant act in aid of a Railroad and telegraph line from from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific coast by the Southern route, approved July 27, 1866.

Several amendments being adopted, the bill, after discussion, was laid over till Monday to have it printed as amended.

The land grant bill in aid of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad was passed.

At 1:45 p. m. the Senate went into Committee of the Whole and took up the Postoffice appropriation bill and amendments relative to the repeal of the franking privilege.

Mr. Thurman moved an amendment that the abolition of the franking privilege shall not take effect until August 1st. Adopted.

Mr. Morton opposed the amendment for two cent letter postage as involving a loss of postal revenue without any corresponding benefit and held that the present rates of postage were sufficiently low.

Mr. Ramsey's amendment, as amended, abolishing the franking privilege providing for one cent postage, etc., was rejected, 10 to 30.

Mr. Morrill of Vt., renewed his amendment, which was rejected, 21 to 38, the Senate asserting that they would vote down all amendments.

The Senate then adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.

The Senate joint resolution for the appointment of a naval board to examine the case of officers deeming themselves unjustly passed over by promotions, was passed. Various bills from the same Committee were reported and acted on.

Mr. Washburn of Mass., from the Com. on Claims, reported back the Senate bill to authorize the settlement of the accounts of officers of the army and navy in cases where vouchers are lost and for over payment, etc., with an amendment limiting the settlement to sums under $5000, and to officers in whose accounts there is no apparent fraud. After a discussion the amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

The Speaker then laid before the House the credentials of B. F. Whittemore, from the 1st Congressional District of South Carolina. The credentials having been read Mr. Logan of Ill., objected to Mr. Whittemore's being sworn. He did not want the matter referred to any Committee. The House was competent enough to be judge of it. He objected to the oath of office being administered to this man, because he had disqualified himself from being a member of this body.

Mr. Farnsworth of Ill., argued that the matter should be referred to a Committee so that the action of the house might be based upon a full presentation of the facts and authorities.

Mr. Logan said he did not wish the question to go to any Committee to be pocketed till after the adjournment of Congress. He wanted the question to be settled by the House now. There was no necessity for the examination of a Committee. It was not the case of a contested election. It was a mere question of qualification.

After further discussion the question was postponed until Tuesday next after the morning hour and the House proceeded with the business reported from the Com. on Claims. After disposing of a large number of private claims, Mr. Schenck of Ohio gave notice that on Monday next after the morning hour, he would move to proceed with the business on the speaker's table, and the House at 4 o'clock adjourned.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 19.

The internal revenue receipts for the week were $787,357; for the fiscal year up to this date, $177,043,882.

The amount of coin in the Treasury to-day is $109,709,505; coin certificates, $34,094,000; currency balance, $21,555,088.

The Secretaryship of the Congressional Republican Executive Committee has been tendered to Thomas D. Fallock of New Hampshire.

The Secretary of the Treasury has made the following decisions:

A writing, in the nature of a bill of sale of vessels must be seconded in the Custom House before marine papers can be issued. Lumber imported in vessels must be entered immediately on its arrival at a port in the United States. The proceeds of the sale of warehouse goods, after deducting the expenses of the sales, &c., are to be paid in current funds and converted into coin at the premium prevailing on the day of the sale. The deficiency on bond, if any, must be paid in gold. Imported roofing tin is liable to a duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem.

MURDER.

HARTFORD, Ct., June 19.

Alexander Taylor murdered Neil McCauley in a drunken affray in Portland, in this State. McCauley received a fearful wound from a knife near the heart and another in the abdomen. Three men concerned in the row were arrested, but the real murderer escaped. He is 21 years old, five feet nine inches high, sandy complexion, freckled, blue eyes, and face clean shaved.

In this town Sunday afternoon, Edward Barry brutally assaulted his brother John with an axe, inflicting wounds that may prove fatal.

OBITUARY.

HARTFORD, Ct., June 19.

Oliver Ellsworth Williams, formerly a practicing lawyer in this city and a well known citizen, died on Saturday, at the age of 74 years. Mr. Williams was Quartermaster-General of the State, and also at the time Geo. D. Prentice was in editorial life in this city he edited the Connecticut Mirror, a weekly paper then published here.

BOSTON ITEMS.

BOSTON, June 19.

James F. Dutton, a member of the Boston Fire Department, died in the hospital to-day of injuries received by falling from a building.

Edward Cotter, a railroad employe, was crushed to death at the Lowell depot last night while shackling cars.

CABLE NEWS.

London, June 18. A letter from Inman, the head of the Inman Steamship Line, to the Board of Trade, was published to-day. He admits that he has given up all hope of ever hearing from the steamship City of Boston, and reiterates his disbelief in the stories afloat that she was overloaded, and ascribes her loss to a collision with an iceberg.

Arthur Clyne, one of the Bolton masqueraders, died suddenly this morning. On his death bed he disclaimed the crime imputed to him.

Paris, June 18. Prevost Paradol will take with him to Washington his son and daughter.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

NEW YORK, June 19.

Rutgers celebrates its centennial this week.

A man named Bennett, of Kingston, N. J., murdered his wife on Friday night, by splitting her head open with an axe.

The estate of the late John A. Roebling amounted to $1,400,000.

A conductor of the New Jersey Central Railroad was held to bail yesterday for putting a passenger off the train because his ticket was not purchased on the day it was presented.

Sec'y Fish has granted the request of the merchants of this city for an increased naval protection in the harbor of Maracaibo, Venezuela.

A terrible fire occurred at Panama on June 6th, destroying the bank of Panama, the Aspinwall hotel and many other buildings occupied as stores and warehouses. Twelve persons are known to have perished, and others are supposed buried in the ruins of the Aspinwall hotel. The Cathedral was on fire in several places, but was preserved by great exertions, and the Grand Hotel was saved from destruction by the blowing up of the neighboring buildings. The fire originated in the Aspinwall hotel at about 1:30 a.m., and was not subdued until near noon. There is no fire engine in Panama, and only one on the Isthmus, which was sent from Aspinwall, but was too late to be of any service. The flames stopped rather from lack of material than any other cause, as the supply of water was scanty, and the people inactive and under no directions.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—Overcoats were popular last night.

—The parasol drill and dress parade, yesterday, was not so extensive as usual.

—Last night at about 12 o'clock, we were visited by a very heavy hail and rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning.

—The lot in front of the First Baptist Church and Vestry has been graded, turfed, and otherwise greatly improved.

—A culvert is being constructed in Somerset Street, which will carry off the surface water.

—Saturday was oppressively warm, but during the night the air was cooled by a shower, and a strong south-west wind made Sunday quite comfortable.

—Field strawberries have made their appearance in our market, and sell at 40 cents per pound, box—somebody said they held a quart.

—At the foot of Center Park and opposite the Express office, temporary bulletin boards attract crowds of youngsters by the brilliancy of the huge circus posters they bear.

—The section man on the Maine Central, between this city and Etna, will have new [illegible] to-day, if they find all that were lost from the special train, yesterday.

—A lamentable spectacle—that of a woman intoxicated, was seen on our streets, Saturday. Her name was Mrs. Dodwell, and she was put into the Lockup by the Police.

—Persons troubled with bunions, inflamed joints, uncomfortable corns, or any of the troubles incident to the "tender footed," are interested in the advertisement of Dr. Richards, in another column. Dr. Richards is a stranger in the city, but he brings excellent testimonials of skill.

ON A LONG WALK. Joe Oldtown and his wife Betsy, after perambulating our streets for five hours Saturday, in quest of a little something stimulating, began to get discouraged and Joe says, "Occupee, he dam sence," [illegible].

JURORS. The following gentlemen were drawn Saturday evening, to act as Jurors at the next term of the U. S. District Court, which sits in this city on Tuesday, June 28th: Grand Jurors:—Jones P. Veazie, John Bright, and William Connors; Petit Jurors:—John Goodale, Jr., Daniel White and Calvin Drinkwater.

LIBERAL. We learn that the Board of Aldermen have licensed Stone & Murray's circus to perform in this city two days for $30 and 100 tickets, besides giving them the privilege of putting a high fence around the City Hall grounds and Center Park, on which to display their bills.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE. One day last week Mr. I. H. Clapp, of Edington, was chopping a tree in a "wind fall," and had nearly cut it off when it suddenly broke, and the stump on which he stood fell back into its place with a rebound which threw him many feet into the air. He came down on his back upon a stump, badly bruising his head, back and limbs, and while he lay there the upper part of the tree fell, coming within a few inches of his head. It was, indeed, a narrow escape.

GRAND FESTIVAL. The High, Select, and Grammar Schools of this city will give a Grand Concert, on Thursday evening of the present week, as may be seen by our advertising columns, which promises to be a rich treat for our citizens. Every effort is being made by the Director, Mr. E. A. Torrens, teacher of music in our public schools, to make it one of the most interesting entertainments of the season, and a credit to our city. The sale of tickets will commence this morning at nine o'clock, at the store of E. F. Duren, Hammond St. It is hoped that our citizens will manifest an interest in this Festival as by so doing they may encourage the study of the cultivating art of music in our schools.

DELEGATES TO STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. At a caucus held Saturday evening, the following delegates were elected to the State Democratic Convention in Portland Tuesday, June 28th:

Ward 1—Marcellus Emery, Levi Bradley.

Ward 2—James F. Rawson, Michael J. Desmond.

Ward 3—Frank H. Getchell, William Mannagan.

Ward 4—Oliver Wiley, Gorham L. Boynton.

Ward 5—Hastings Strickland, John Sargent.

Ward 6—Lemuel Nash.

Ward 7—Charles W. Roberts, Zenas Drinkwater.

Delegates at large—P. R. Holden, F. J. Cummings.

The delegation was authorized to fill vacancies, should any occur.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE. On Saturday evening, the Police found on Hammond Street, a young woman who appeared to be in a state of helpless intoxication, having lost her bonnet and other articles of apparel. She was taken to the lockup, where she was very sick, and could tell little or nothing about herself, but the officers supposed it the result of her intoxication. On Sunday, when she had come to her right mind she stated that she had been induced to take a drink of some liquor, unknown to her, by a young man well known to the police of this city. She drank but once, and after that, she knew nothing until she found herself in the lockup. The supposition is that she was drugged, and the case will be thoroughly investigated. She is of a respectable family, and her friends assure us that she has heretofore borne an unblemished reputation.

CIRCUS. Stone & Murray's Circus will exhibit in this city on Saturday and Monday, July 2d and 4th. This Circus is very highly spoken of by the press, and will doubtless receive an immense patronage, coming as it does on a National Holiday, with no celebration here to interfere with it. The Brooklyn Eagle says of the show:

"STONE & MURRAY have a Circus which holds an unquestionable ascendancy in the realms of amusements. Under their supervision it has attained a popularity alike significant of the superior qualifications as managers, and the unequalled splendor of the entertainments they give their patrons."

RECAPTURE. Our readers will remember that when the robbers of the Lime Rock Bank were removed from Rockland to Belfast Jail, three convicts, Melvin Nichols and Samuel Folloman of this city, and Jerome Packard of Bucksport, were taken to less secure cells to make room for the Bank robbers, and on the night of the 21st of May, during a thunder shower, escaped by sawing off the grates from a window. The Police of this city were notified of their escape, and have been on the lookout for them. On Friday, Nichols was recognized and arrested on Exchange Street, and on Saturday morning, at about 2 o'clock, the Police found and arrested Folloman at his mother's house, on Elm St., near the railroad bridge. The two men were safely taken back to Belfast Jail, from which they will not be likely to escape again. Packard is still at large.

A SAD CASE. There is a man in town, who is carting around a deformed child of some dozen years of age, that is and has been from its birth, wholly unable to do any thing to earn its own living, or to support its lazy father, who, though a stout, able bodied man, capable of maintaining a family, is obliged (?) to tote round his poor baby from house to house, begging assistance from sympathetic women. A person who stood in a position to see without being seen, yesterday, observed the child with remarkable shrewdness for an idiot, to watch till some one answered the knock at the door, and then throw itself into all manner of unseemly shapes, twisting and writhing its hands in a manner pitiful to behold, and as soon as he had left the door the pantomime was suspended until reaching the house of the next victim. The man states that he has begged his way along from Portland, and our advice is that he return there at once, and go to work at an honest occupation.

MILL BURNED. Between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in the steam mill of Going, Hathorn & Son in Carmel, about one-half mile this side of Etna Station on the Maine Central Railroad. The alarm was at once given, but the mill being of wood, and very dry, was soon enveloped in flames and burned to the ground, together with the dry-house, a large amount of manufactured lumber and about three hundred thousand feet of hard wood logs. The cause of the fire is unknown, but from its position when discovered, it is conjectured that it caught around the steam boiler from the furnace. The mill was used for manufacturing all kinds of lumber, though the principal business was the making of orange and lemon box shooks and heading. The total loss is estimated at $30,000, on which there was no insurance. Not being able to telegraph to this city for assistance, some men took a hand car and came up, arriving here about noon. An alarm was given, and No. 3, hand tub was taken to the Railroad station; permission for a special train was obtained, and as soon as steam could be got up, an engine with one box and two flat cars conveying a crowd of firemen and volunteers with the tub and two hose carriages, made the run, 18 miles, in about 28 minutes, arriving at 2 o'clock, p. m., to find the mill totally destroyed. Considerable fire still lingering in the lumber and saw dust, the tub was put in [illegible] and the firemen wet down the ruins to prevent further damage if a change [illegible] should occur. A good dinner was provided at the boarding house of the [illegible] for the firemen, but a lot of [illegible] who accompanied them down, [illegible] took the first turn. On the [illegible] of the crowd on mischief bent pulled a shackle-pin, and before any one knew it the engine had drawn the forward part of the train nearly a quarter of a mile in advance, leaving three cars in the rear.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE of [illegible] gational Churches in Maine [illegible] at services with the First Church in Yarmouth,—commencing at [illegible] Tuesday morning, June 21, and closing Thursday evening, June 23. The Conference [illegible] by Professor Herrick, of Bangor Seminary, for Tuesday afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Maine Missionary Society, the Maine Branch of the Education Society, and the Maine Congregational Charitable Society, will be held some time during the three days. Wednesday forenoon from 9 o'clock, is usually devoted to the anniversary of the Missionary Society.

Various topics reported by the Committee of Arrangements, will be discussed.

A Pilgrim Memorial Meeting will be held during the session.

Sabbath School Meeting on Thursday evening.

The various benevolent objects will be presented,—and reports and salutations from corresponding bodies,—also the Report of the Committee to visit the Theological Seminary, Bangor, and the Report of the Corresponding Secretary.

The Church in Yarmouth, where the Conference meets, was organized one hundred and fifty years ago. One of its pastors was Rev. Francis Brown, afterwards President of Dartmouth College; another was Rev. Asa Cummings, afterwards Editor of the Christian Mirror; Rev. Edward M. Alden, D. D., now Rector of Phillips Church, South Boston, was their minister from 1850 to 1853. Rev. Geo. A. Putnam, a graduate from the Bangor Seminary in 1860,—is the present pastor.

Persons attending the meetings will be furnished with free return tickets, when they procure their tickets for Yarmouth, at Portland.

—Luther Dana, Esq., one of the oldest and most respected merchants of Portland, died Sunday morning, at the age of seventy-eight years. He was actively engaged in business for fifty-four years.

—There is absolutely no law against holding up lamp-posts and corner buildings, but young men who engage in the work late at night should understand that it is quite unnecessary.

—Bro. Stickney, of the Presque Isle Sunrise, recently took unto himself a better half. The Ellsworth American alludes to the fact in this wise: "The Sunrise came this week in the form of a half sheet, the editor was married last week, which probably accounts for it." Whereupon, the Rockland Free Press expresses the matter to the American's comprehension thus: "Of course brother Stickney divides his sheets with his wife, brother Sawyer. May the Sun never set upon their possessions."

—The Bath Times understands that all of the ice stored at Bowdoinham, has already been shipped to market.

—The M. C. R. R. Co. have laid five miles of their new rails this summer, and are putting in a long turnout at Readfield, says the Lewiston Journal.

—The Rockland Free Press learns that the Messrs. Emery and others are building a vessel of some 300 tons at Owl's Head.

—The Calais Advertiser says that fishermen have been plenty this season at Grand Lake stream. A gentleman informs us that between five and six hundred persons camped there during the month of May. He estimates that they caught ten thousand salmon trout.

—Lewiston is to have public baths.

—Miss Lizzie Graffam, while at work in the weaving department of the Continental Mill, Lewiston, on Wednesday, had her arm badly lacerated in the machinery. The surgeon found it necessary to remove the fleshy part of the upper arm, says the Journal.

—The semi-annual Convention of the Department of Maine, G. A. R., will be held in the hall of Heath Encampment, Post 6, in Gardiner in July, probably on Wednesday the 13th.

—On Friday last, the graves of the soldiers in the cemetery connected with the National Military Asylum at Togus, were appropriately decorated with flowers, the richest and rarest products of the gardens in Augusta and the asylum. The exercises were interesting and impressive, says the Journal.

—The valuable Knox colt owned by Messrs. Jones & Tozier, which was injured in the stable at Mercer village the last of May, has since died of lock-jaw. He was valued at $2000, says the Waterville Mail.

—A woman in Lewiston, according to the Journal, who is possessed with the idea that she is going to die at once, rang the door bell of her neighbor, a day or two since, and asked her if she wouldn't cut and make a shroud for her, as she was about her size.

—The new bills of the Bank of British North America, at St. Stephen have been counterfeited.

UNIVERSALIST STATE CONVENTION. The Universalist State Convention will be held in the Universalist Church in Westbrook, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. On Wednesday afternoon the Centenary meeting will be held and addresses made by Mrs. M. A. Livermore, Hon. E. F. Pillsbury, Rev. H. A. Philbrook and others. In the evening, addresses will be made by Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., of Boston, Rev. W. Lisson, Hon. I. Washburn, Jr., and others. The words of several of the hymns have been expressly composed for this occasion.

—A farmer in a neighboring town, having been asked by a neighbor whether the bugs had destroyed his potatoes, replied that he didn't know, but he would go and see. When he returned, he said there were no potatoes up, but one hill was just coming through the ground, and a big potato bug stood near by with his mouth open ready to gobble it the moment it fairly made its appearance.

BANGOR POLICE COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE CLARK.

Saturday, June 18th. John Gallagher and William McCarthy were arraigned for selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law, but the trial was continued to Monday, at 2½ o'clock P. M.

Martha Johnson was sent to the House of Correction for 30 days, for vagrancy.

BANGOR PRODUCE MARKET.

SATURDAY, June 18th, 1870.

The following report is obtained by particular observation on the market, and the quotations are the prices paid for produce from the country teams this day, or about the average for the week past.

If we were to make any remarks upon the weather for the week past, we should say that it could not be improved upon for farming, for the growth of vegetation, and marketing.

HAY. Loose hay comes in plenty, and the most it is of a bright and handsome quality, the best loads selling at from $15 to $18 per ton, and the poorer qualities sell at from $10 to $14.

STRAW comes in plenty, and sells at from $8 to $10 per ton.

OATS are scarce on the market, and good lots sell at from 70 to 75 cents per bushel.

BARLEY [illegible] in request [illegible] supply on hand [illegible] 75 cents per bushel.

BEANS. Yellow eyed beans are selling at $2.25 per bushel for [illegible] and pea beans are worth from $2.50 to $2.75 and $3.00 per bushel.

BUTTER comes in quite plenty, and [illegible] the present warm weather—the best [illegible] selling at 25 cents per pound, but the most of it is sold at a less price, according to the quality and condition of the article.

EGGS have [illegible] demand this week and to-day have sold [illegible] the market at 25 cents per dozen.

POTATOES. This quality [illegible] have been highly appreciated the past week, and the price paid for them has been steadily advancing—to-day they sold at from [illegible] bushel.

ROUND HOGS are worth from 12 to 13 cents per pound.

James Fisk, Jr., has been elected President of the Newark & New York Railroad.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

TENDER FEET.—Those suffering with bunions and inflamed joints, ingrowing nails, tender feet, painful corns, or any other of the ills "which feet are heir to," may now find relief. Dr. Richards is a stranger in Maine, but we have seen his testimonials and assure our readers that he comes highly recommended in every way.

Provision and Fruit Dealers will notice E. B. Patten's advertisement of Sale of Fruit and Produce this morning at 10 o'clock, and will do well to be on hand promptly at that time.

A CARD. The subscribers take this method to return their sincere thanks to the Firemen and citizens of Bangor who so promptly, in response to the call, went to Etna yesterday, to assist in staying the further extension of the flames after the destruction of their steam mill. They are particularly under obligations to Chief Engineer Lew of the Bangor Fire Department, Alderman Rawson, Conductor Gray and others, for exertions in their behalf.

GOING, HATHORN & SON.

Etna, June 20, 1870.

HEARTH & HOME for this week (dated June 25th) contains the first of a series of sketches entitled Jethro Throop's Night Thoughts, by JOHN THOMAS, who is no other than PETROLEUM V. NASBY. The great humorist will take an honest country boy to the city, conduct him through the usual experiences, and restore him to his home a sadder and wiser boy, satisfied that the peaceful, honest, and temperate life of the farmer is the best and safest life that can be lived. This is a lesson greatly needed at this time, and Nasby is the man to teach it.

RAILROAD BONDS. We desire to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the St. Joseph and Denver City eight per cent. gold bonds. This loan is issued on a projected road of one hundred and eleven miles, seventy miles of which is fully completed and running regular trains. The entire mortgage is for $1,500,000, or at the low rate of $13,500 per mile on the entire road.—The earnings, as we are informed, upon the road now running, is more than sufficient to meet the interest upon the entire issue of bonds. The company have a land grant from Congress of a million and a half of acres of land, and from the State of Kansas a grant of a quarter of a million. These bonds should be a good security.

PURE TEAS.

Just Received

FROM JAPAN AND CHINA,

BY THE

Mutual Store Company,

No. 22 & 24 Central Street.

Large invoices of fresh and very elegant flavored New Teas, imported by the most direct route, and selected by an American agent of the highest integrity and undoubted skill, in order to guard expressly against [illegible] the American consumers of this delicious plant from the persistent and consummate frauds practiced by the Chinamen by curing and packing Teas for the American Market. And most wonderfully has he succeeded in preventing and exposing John Chinaman's chicanery, as one trial of our Teas will well attest. Prices lower than can be found elsewhere in New England.

ALSO

of the choicest grades, imported expressly for the "Mutual Store Co.," from "Mocha," "Java," "Ceylon," "Rio," and "Porto Cabello," and can be sold for one profit only, which makes our Coffee lower in price than can be found at any other Store in the Country.

Our Roasted Coffee

is all prepared by an American House of long standing, and whose reputation for honesty and for eminent integrity, is above all reproach, or suspicion, and are not allowed to pass through the hands of the Chinamen, where they would be sure to receive the villainous adulteration. Sure to suit. Try them.

Our

are already well known in this community and are well appreciated. N. C.

We have also a very large and carefully selected Stocks of all kinds of goods befitting into the stock of first class Grocery Store, and a customer at our Store can buy not only Tea, Coffee, Spices, [illegible] and a few such articles, but also, Molasses of all grades, Syrups, Pork and Lard, Kerosene Oil, Flour, Meal, Butter, Eggs, and all kinds of country produce, everything in the Wooden Ware line, from a ten cent Basket to a Clothes-horse, also, English fish, English Pickles, English Mustard, English Sauce for your fresh meat, Sardines, Lobsters, and Oysters in cans, Tomatoes in cans, and very cheap, all kinds of canned fruit; Jellies in Tumblers, a large stock of Raspberry Shrub, just the thing [illegible] wanted (except from Wingate,) Burnett's, Knight's, Louis', and other flavoring extracts, Preston's Cocoas, and finally everything pertaining to a real

WAITING.

BY [illegible]

Lovely and bright, was that summer's day,
When June was crowned with the wreath of May;
The wild birds chirped to the murmuring breeze
And courted, and paired in the apple trees;
While together we sat, 'neath the clustering vine,
With thy snowy hand clasped in mine.

Softly, the sunshine lingering there,
Touching with gold your pale brown hair;
And upon your cheek, and brow of snow,
Was a brighter flush than the rose's glow;
And my heart was filled with a sweet content,
While softly, the bright hours came and went.

Dear to my heart were your whispered words,
Sweeter, than music of all the birds,
And you promised me then, when leafy June,
Awoke again in her beautiful bloom;
And back to their nest's the birds had flown,
The hand I clasped should be for mine own.

I've wandered long since that summer's day,
Far from home, and from thee away;
Though severed wide by land and sea,
My heart's deep love ne'er faltered to thee;
As the tired dove homeward seeketh its nest,
Turn I to thee for safety and rest.

Now earth is bright with the skies of June,
The soft winds float, and the roses bloom;
Each glad, wild bird hath chosen its mate,
And here alone, I wander and wait,
While the lonely hours drag wearily,
Waiting for joys thou hast promised to me.

Orrington June, 1870.

FIEL'S DELICATE CASE.

When Mrs. Fiel was a bride, all the spectators agreed that she was a pretty and interesting girl, who would make a fine woman when she came to fill out. But she never did fill out; on the contrary, Time, that stole her years away, robbed her of plumpness, too; and after thirty anniversaries of that wedding-day, she was considerably more slender than at starting. She wore curls, and a black band round her forehead, mittens—not knowing that these things had long ceased to make her attractive, and, on a first introduction, would have struck you generally as being somewhat of a guy; but a better wife you would scarcely find in all England, and that is infinitely more important than comeliness and tasteful attire, as you will own before you have been married for a quarter of a century.

Excellent at all times, Mrs. Fiel culminated at meals. Call no man happy till you have seen him at breakfast. A natural irritability in Mr. Fiel's disposition had been almost entirely cured by little soothing comforts and tit-bits. He was a solicitor, with an office in London, and a semi-detached villa in the suburbs, who had to leave the latter at nine to reach the former by ten every morning. This necessitated breakfast at eight, but even at that early hour Mrs. Fiel saw to every detail herself.

It would have shaken a very confirmed bachelor to have seen her table one spring morning a few years ago—the linen was so white and the tea so black, the water-cresses and radishes so fresh, the marmalade and apricot jam so daintily set out, the eggs so new-looking, the loaf so brown and crusty, the dry toast so crisp and thin. And when she heard the tread of her husband's foot on the staircase, and the flourish on his nose which invariably heralded his approach, she rang the bell for the appetizing little covered dish to be brought up. This contained frizzled slices of ham or bacon, delicate and curled, a sausage, a kidney, or the savory thigh of a chicken. May such be your only domestic broils!

A hale, neat man with sharp gray eyes, and a very good opinion of himself, entered and looked at his letters, selecting and opening one at once.

"Well, Martha," said he, "the Chip-chow has arrived at last."

"You don't say so! Then Mr. Lobyear will be here presently. Will he come to stay with us, do you think?"

"I don't know. You had better have a bed ready; though I expect he has not come to England with the idea of shutting himself up with an old man and woman four miles from the Marble Arch. Still, as everything will be strange to him at first, he may accept my invitation for a night or two."

"This Mr. Thomas Lobyear is rich—is he not?"

"Will be, I suppose. At present, he probably depends upon his father, who has given me very liberal orders, absurdly liberal, orders about him. From living so long among savages, the old man must have lost all idea of the value of money. However, there is plenty of it accumulating, and it does not matter to me."

"Don't you think," said Mrs. Fiel, "it might be well to have Sarah home?"

Sarah, the only child of the Fiels, was at a finishing-school at Clifton, but she was seventeen, and a woman.

"Ah, ah, ah!" laughed the lawyer. "At your match-making, old lady? From what I am advised, he is proof against your attempts. Besides which, it would something like a breach of trust; old Lobyear has evidently got other views for his son than marrying him at present—at any rate to an English woman."

"Why, he would never go and match him with a heathen, with a ring through her nose like a pig!"

"I don't know that," replied Mr. Fiel laughing; "if he could discover a new weed or a fresh variety of black beetle by it he certainly would."

It was of good augury for Mrs. Fiel when her husband laughed, and a better when he replied to observations, instead of looking deaf and grunting, which he generally did if she alluded to his clients or their business; for it showed that he was willing to be pumped, and Mrs. Fiel's thirst for information was great, though it was rarely slaked. In the present instance, however, the lawyer thought he might require feminine aid in the task which he had undertaken, and was therefore not unwilling to admit his wife into his confidence.

"Ah," said she, "that was a curious idea for a rich man, to banish himself completely, and give up civilized life for the sake of studying botany and butterflies in Japan. For a poor man, indeed, it would be explicable if he expected to make something by it in the end; but from what you say, Mr. Lobyear has more money than he knows what to do with as it is."

"Yes; he was well off originally, and got a good property through his wife besides."

"Ah, poor man; I dare say grief for her death gave him a craze."

"Fudge!" exclaimed Mr. Fiel somewhat rudely. "He was glad enough to be freed to go hunting on his favorite hobby. If she had lived another year, it is my opinion that he would have bolted and left her."

"Ah, well," said Mrs. Fiel, "it is a fortunate thing for him, or at any rate for his son, that he fixed on so good a man of business as yourself to look after his interests."

"Well," replied her husband, complacently, "considering that the bulk of his property is in houses situated in a rapidly improving neighborhood, and that the tenants are up to all sorts of dodges to avoid having their rents raised, perhaps an agent who was not sharp might not miss an advantage here and there. For instance, there was an application for the renewal of a lease the other day, and I discovered that the tenant, who had been paying forty pounds a year, had underlet for the last three years at a hundred and ten."

"Lor, how sharp you are?"

"Well, I was not born in Yorkshire for nothing. I do not know of more than one person who ever regularly took me in—that young rascal, Tom Scott, who robbed me five years ago."

"Ah, that was very shocking," said the good wife soothingly; "but then, you know, he was brought up in your own office."

"Why, Martha! Do you suppose, then, that he learned dishonesty there? I never expected an epigram of that sort from your mouth. I would have you to know that I could put at least a couple of thousand a year in my pocket from this Lobyear property alone, without a chance of detection, if I chose to be dishonorable."

"I am sure I never meant to call you an epigram, or any other name," cried Mrs. Fiel, astonished at this outbreak. "I only said that a breach of trust was easy for that Scott, because he had been under you for some time, and probably had had opportunities."

"Oh, that is different," said her husband, cracking an egg. "It was not a tender conscious which made Mr. Fiel so touchy—for though priding himself upon keen shrewdness, he was perfectly upright and trustworthy—but the thought of Tom Scott. There is this advantage in reckoning yourself to be cleverer than the rest of the world, that if ever you are taken in, it rankles. So the remembrance of Tom Scott always irritated him. He had taken a fancy to the sharp lad, and put him in the office, where he favored, encouraged, and trusted him more and more every year; and the result had been a cunning bit of roguery and flight. There was one consolation; he had caught the scoundrel, who was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Had Tom Scott got off with impunity, his heart would have been nearly breaking.

"I suppose this young gentleman was quite a lad when his father went to foreign parts?" said Mrs. Fiel, returning to the pump-handle.

"As he is not of age yet, I suppose he must have been," replied her husband, continuing to flow.

"Was he educated in England before he went out to his father?"

"I don't know. Mr. Lobyear never mentioned him before. I have written regularly to advise him how his affairs stood, and he has from time to time briefly acknowledged my letters, declaring himself satisfied, telling me to do what I thought best, saying where he wished his remittances sent, and now and then requesting me to undertake certain commissions for him connected with his pursuits, but not at all with my business. However, as he has always behaved very handsomely, I have done my best to oblige him, and mean to do so still, though this present job is rather a delicate affair, and quite out of my line; what I call a regular bit of diplomacy."

"Ah!"

"Yes. It seems that the young man has inherited his father's fancy for a roving life, though not his [illegible] tastes. He has been living in Borneo for some years, sailing about with expeditions against the pirates, and I don't know what all. Mr. Lobyear, senior, went to China from Japan a year and a half ago; and his son joined him at Hong Kong, where he intimated a desire to go to England for a while and have a spell of comfortable living. The father was willing enough to let him do so, and gave him a letter of credit to me, and he started in one of the tea-trading ships. But after he had sailed Mr. Lobyear, senior, received information from a friend that his son's principal reason for desiring to visit England was the hope of meeting with an adventuress whose acquaintance he had made at Calcutta, and whom, in the ardor of a first passion, he desired to marry. The lady had other [illegible] at the time, but has since sailed by [illegible] and she is a most [illegible] wife for him. The news having come to me by telegraph, was, of course, long preceded the younger [illegible] and my mission is to prevent the marriage. This can be done with comparative ease while he is a minor, but he will come of age in eight months, and [illegible] merely to delay matters for that time. [illegible] to break it off altogether."

"Exactly. And don't you think that if he were thrown into the society of an [illegible] accomplished and attractive girl, his infatuation for this creature would the sooner be got over?"

"Well, well [illegible] for Sarah if you like; she would be looking [illegible] quarter. Only, don't put her up to thinking this youngster a great catch for his father may have other children, and [illegible] for aught I know. I [illegible] Martha."

As Mr. Fiel uttered these [illegible] he looked at his watch and [illegible] out of the room, while Mrs. Fiel brushed his hat, and brought it to him together with a light. Something like a wife! [illegible] man could [illegible] "Could [illegible] the City [illegible] Atlas had [illegible]

A heavy gale [illegible] the crew and passengers of the [illegible] before Mr. Fiel and his [illegible] by which time the accomplished Sarah was [illegible] established under the paternal roof. Sarah was a good girl enough, but [illegible] and not [illegible] a better [illegible] to drive our [illegible]

However the designing mother and unwitting daughter had a fair chance, for young Lobyear accepted the offer of hospitality made him by Mr. Fiel, and established himself in their house until he could look around him. [illegible] the young man who [illegible] would have taken for five-and-twenty. It had likewise turned him [illegible] and hands were [illegible] that Mr. Fiel was [illegible] to make inquiries about the nationality of his [illegible], but as her husband had never known anything of Mr. Lobyear before he put his affairs in his hands, on going out to the East, and was even ignorant [illegible] of the very existence of this son, she could not get much satisfactory information out of him. So she concluded that Mr. Lobyear's [illegible] oriental tastes were not confined to [illegible], and [illegible] the deep blackness of the young man's hair, eyebrows, and [illegible] moustache [illegible] theory. His manners were not very good. There was an evident restraint about him; and if [illegible] he became boisterous and vulgar. [illegible] broke out once or twice, [illegible] almost [illegible]. He [illegible] the safest plan was to [illegible] Sarah, and devoted himself to her [illegible] the last evening [illegible]

"I have no doubt his father means well by him at present," said he, "or he would hardly show so much anxiety about his contracting an unfavorable marriage, [illegible] carte blanche in the [illegible]. Neither would he [illegible] so handsome [illegible] as sixty pounds [illegible] intends [illegible]. But this [illegible]."

"But [illegible] certain [illegible] with Sarah [illegible]."

H. T. HELMBOLD'S

Concentrated Fluid Extract

BUCHU.

The Great Diuretic.

The Proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the act of being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

Helmbold's

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a Pharmaceutical Preparation. The proper name is given; and it is the most active which can be made; it is indorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the Proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by Adults and Children. It is Tonic, Diuretic, Blood Purifying and Invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the Preparations of Bark or Iron.

See Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, morbid irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, disease of the Prostate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections, and Dropsy."

CURE OF GRAVEL OF FIVE YEARS' STANDING—STONE PASSED AND TO BE SEEN.

SAVANNAH, Geo., May [illegible]

H. T. HELMBOLD:

DEAR SIR:—We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this country about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it has met with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance among many, where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our country [illegible] with gravel [illegible] bought one bottle of your "Buchu," [illegible] through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs EIGHT GRAINS, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully, yours, &c.,
[illegible] & HINKEL, Druggists.

CURE OF BLADDER AND KIDNEY AFFECTION OF LONG STANDING—STONE PASSED AND TO BE SEEN.

WESTPORT, Conn., Sept. [illegible], 186[illegible]

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837.

No. 78 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
